To Whom It May Concern,

As a long-standing industrial business in this district, we know how rare it is to find a neighbor that not only contributes positively to the environment — but also shows up when it counts. The Midway SF is that kind of neighbor.

Their regular event programming and staffing have added visibility and safety to the area. The increase in foot traffic has pushed out much of the unwanted activity that previously plagued our block, and the neighborhood simply feels more active and cared for.

More importantly, The Midway SF has always offered support when we've needed it — whether that's through sharing resources, providing access to tools or equipment, or simply checking in on our crew. It's a relationship that feels rooted in genuine neighborliness.

The addition of consistent food service at their venue has also been a game changer. Before, we had few options in the area — now our team can grab a meal without leaving the district, saving time and building a greater sense of community.

We're proud to stand with The Midway SF and fully support their continued investment in this and other neighborhoods.

Sincerely,

Daniel Arreguin

To Whom It May Concern,

Working alongside The Midway SF as neighbors has been a uniquely collaborative experience that has helped elevate our creative and professional capabilities.

Their on-site food program has been a major asset to the neighborhood, providing reliable, high-quality meals in an area where options are limited — especially for busy production crews and workshop staff like ours.

More meaningfully, The Midway SF has consistently gone above and beyond in supporting our work. They have donated catering services at cost for our smaller events, making it possible for us to host internal gatherings and community outreach on a budget. They've also provided access to event rentals and heavy equipment at no cost for our conferences and meetings — a gesture that speaks volumes about their commitment to mutual success.

They've proven themselves to be generous, dependable partners, and their presence continues to be a source of value, inspiration, and support in the district.

Sincerely,

Whom It May Concern,

Highsmith Fabrication has been part of this industrial corridor for over a decade, and few partnerships have proven as valuable as the one we now enjoy with The Midway SF.

Not only have they brought consistent staffing and programming that deters crime and loitering in the area, but they've also gone above and beyond as neighbors. Their team has contributed donated man-hours to assist with repairs and upkeep at our warehouse — work that has had a tangible impact on our day-to-day operations.

Most recently, they've taken the initiative to install a sprinkler system in our building at no cost to our management. That level of generosity and shared investment in safety is something truly rare, and it speaks to their commitment to long-term partnership.

The broader changes they've helped drive — cleaner streets, visible parking striping, and new local food options — are icing on the cake. We're proud to support their continued growth.

Sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern,

As a longtime creative anchor in this district, Pablo Design values thoughtful collaboration and community-minded development. The arrival of The Midway SF has not only brought new energy and oversight to the neighborhood — it has also deepened our own creative ecosystem.

We are proud to now have The Midway SF as a tenant within our building. Their team is diligently building out additional space to support both their operations and expanded artistic endeavors. Together, we're also planning a collaborative design showcase event at their venue — a testament to our aligned values of innovation and cultural exchange.

From a neighborhood perspective, their presence has improved safety and cleanliness across the board. Regular events and staffing have reduced the presence of unhoused individuals and criminal activity. At the same time, we've seen noticeable upgrades to sidewalks, public spaces, and food access — especially important in an area that long lacked options for our local workforce.

We wholeheartedly support The Midway SF and the positive, respectful growth they bring with them.

Warmly,

To Whom It May Concern,

Over the last five years, our working relationship with The Midway SF has evolved into a truly valuable and reliable partnership — one that extends far beyond the usual business-to-business interaction.

Through their support, we were connected with a trusted local mechanic who now services our fleet. That kind of proactive, solutions-oriented collaboration has made a real operational difference for us.

But it's not just about logistics — The Midway SF has also brought life and vibrancy to the neighborhood. Their presence has helped transform an overlooked corridor into an area with consistent human activity, cleaner streets, and regular access to fresh, local food — a true rarity in what was once a food desert.

Their efforts to include our crew members in community events is something we deeply value. Whether it's casual gatherings or more structured engagements, they've helped us feel part of something larger — and that sense of inclusion matters.

We strongly support their continued expansion and hope other communities will benefit as we have.

Sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern,

We've operated in this neighborhood for years, and in that time, we've seen many changes — some for the better, some for the worse. But the arrival and ongoing presence of The Midway SF has unquestionably been a force for positive transformation.

Their regular event schedule and daytime staffing have brought much-needed foot traffic and oversight to an area that previously struggled with unpermitted camping, vandalism, and public safety concerns. Since their operations began, we've seen a marked decrease in these issues around our business.

Additionally, the civil improvements that have followed — sidewalk repairs, visible parking lines, and ongoing cleaning — have made a real difference for our staff and clients. We also appreciate the uptick in food options nearby, a major benefit in what had long been a food desert for local workers.

We fully support their continued presence and expansion in other neighborhoods. We'd welcome them again in a heartbeat.

Sincerely,
